Mr. Churchill Resigns Over Dispute With Labor Party

San Francisco, May 23 (AP)—Five members of the British delegation to the World Security conference offered their resignations today following the resignation of Prime Minister Churchill — leaving only Lord Halifax as the only unresigned representative of the United Kingdom at the conference.

London, May 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill resigned today and King George VI accepted the resignation and asked him to form a new administration.

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
London, May 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill resigned today, breaking up Great Britain's wartime coalition government and giving the signal for the nation's first general election in a decade.

Churchill was expected, on request of King George VI, to form a temporary government immediately to serve as "caretakers" until after the election, probably July 5. Three weeks will elapse before the king formally dissolves the heavily conservative parliament.

Labor ministers, who have served in the coalition cabinet since 1940, were given a mandate by their party earlier this week to resign if an election was called at this time. Labor is the second most numerous party.

Churchill is expected to lead a new "care taker" government into commons when it reassembles Tuesday.

To Fill Vacancies
The British Press association predicted that the new government would include such men as Sir John Adersson, Sir James Grigg, Sir Andrew Duncan and Lord Leathers, who were prewar business men without political backgrounds. All were called into the government to do special jobs.

The full list is not expected to be ready before Sunday or Monday, as Churchill will need the intervening time to fill vacancies left by the departure of labor and liberal ministers.

Churchill, who led Britain from its most desperate days of the war to the unconditional surrender of Germany, gave King George his resignation at noon as prime minister, first lord of the treasury and minister of defense.

His action will bring about great Britain's first general election in ten years early in July. He had held the office since May 10, 1940, when he succeeded Neville Chamberlain during some of the darkest days of the war.

Churchill's resignation was precipitated by the labor party's refusal to continue in the coalition government, now that Germany is defeated.

May Vote July 5
An old-fashioned political campaign already was underway, with the opposition press lampooning the prime minister.

The general expectation was that the election would be held July 5 and that Churchill would remain at the head of a "caretaker" government until the new parliament was seated. The election will be held with Mr. Churchill at the peak of his popularity as leader of the government at the time of victory in Europe.

In the last election in 1935, the voters returned 431 conservatives to commons. Churchill is leader of the conservative party. The second largest group is the labor party, led by Deputy Prime Minister Clement Atlee.

Buehler, Mrs. Buehler narrowly escaped being hit as she walked along the sidewalk. She said afterward that she heard the tree cracking and jumped back a few steps. Had she continued to walk toward her home, she probably would have been hit, she related.

While Ellsworth Woodward and his son, Jay, aged 17, both of 696 South Washington street, were engaged in cutting up the tree later in the afternoon, preparatory to its removal, a huge limb which had been sawed free snapped back under the pressure of a telephone cable and knocked Jay Woodward off the tree trunk. The Water Weasel campaign is over but the $2,200 cost of the bonds will be credited to the Adams county war bond quota in recognition of the contribution made by The Gettysburg Times newsboys in the water weasel drive when 10-cent stamp sales topped the 400,000-mark.

Acting Heads Of Reich Are Under Arrest

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, May 23 (AP)—All members of the acting German government as well as members of the German high command in Flensburg have been taken into custody as prisoners of war, supreme headquarters announced today.

Those arrested included 300 officers, and a number of other ranks and civilians, the announcement said.

(Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who succeeded Hitler as Fuehrer, presumably was among those arrested as a prisoner of war.)

President To Go To Frisco

Washington, May 23 (AP)—President Truman will go to San Francisco to address the final plenary session of the United Nations World Organization Conference.

Secretary of State Stettinius made this announcement today after conferring with the President on Conference matters and what he described as a "wide range of subjects" dealing with world affairs.

The Secretary of State predicted the Conference would "successfully conclude" early next month.

AUXILIARY OF USWV TO MEET HERE IN JUNE

The women of the auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans will hold their annual convention in Gettysburg June 10, 11 and 12. Mrs. George S. Rightmyer, chairman of the local committee on arrangements, announced today.

Headquarters will be opened in the Hotel Gettysburg on June 8 to receive the registration of early arrivals.

On June 9 the auxiliary members will visit the Scotland school, Scotland, Pa., to attend the graduation exercises in connection with the 50th anniversary of the founding of the school.

Because of travel restrictions the United Spanish War Veterans will not hold an "official" convention. Commander Oscar Seybert, of Butler, has called the Council of Administration into session at Harrisburg on June 11 and 12. The sessions will be held at The Harrisburg hotel.

Last year the USWV convention delegates voted to return to Gettysburg again this year but when travel restrictions were placed on convention gatherings the convention was called off.

However, many of the Spanish war veterans were hopeful that the Council of Administration sessions would have been held in Gettysburg. As it now stands the women of the auxiliary will meet here in regular annual session.

By JAMES LINDSLEY

Guam, May 23 (AP)—A spectacular lunge by the U. S. Seventh Infantry Division through and beyond strategic Yonabaru virtually doubled the length of the southern Okinawa line today and imperiled Japanese defenses safeguarding Naha and the fortress city of Shuri.

The flanking drive, aimed at supply roads vital to the enemy, added nearly 4,000 yards to the front which had been so narrow American troops had little room to maneuver to advantage. Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold, commander of the Seventh said.

The Seventh, refreshed by a two-weeks' rest, followed the 96th Infantry Division into ruined, rain-spattered, muddy Yonabaru yesterday, then moved on into the hills 1,000 yards beyond in a surprise predawn attack that caught the enemy by surprise.

Take Strategic Ridges

The doughboys seized the northern end of a strategic line of ridges along the east coast between Rioli and Intarashiku and occupy heights from which their guns overlook supply roads to Shuri in the center of the line.

Yonabaru, second largest Okinawa town, was entered by Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Division late Monday and was the first major town on the island to fall into American hands.

In the darkness of Tuesday morning, opposed only by sniper fire, Seventh Division elements sloshed through Yonabaru, cut the east-west traffic artery between that town and the capital city of Naha, and established strong positions on the ridges.

Officers expressed confidence the men could hold the ridges against enemy counterattacks. The return of the Seventh to action pitted five American Divisions—three Army Infantry and two Marine—against the hard fighting Nipponese.

DEFENSE UNIT WILL CONTINUE

Harrisburg, May 23 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Defense Council will continue to function until final victory has been achieved over Japan, it was announced by Governor Martin today.

Its future activities will be restricted "to salvage, food production, victory gardens, food conservation, nutrition, child care centers, teenage centers, and the protective services essential for the protection of lives and property during the war period," he added.

The council was ordered to reduce its paid personnel in order to cut down operating costs $85,000 yearly. Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchinson, executive director, said actual expenses have been running $200,000 a year.

The curtailed program was adopted yesterday at a meeting of the defense council, headed by Governor Martin.

All blackout regulations, in effect since 1943, were cancelled but Dr. Hutchinson said air raid wardens and other protective forces will be continued on a standby basis for use in event of emergency.

Governor Martin said that the council's budgeted expense "has been notably low" in proportion to volunteer participation by 1,300,000 persons in civilian defense but further reductions may be made by authority of the council.

Faulty Glove Costs Hartford A Defeat

(By The Associated Press)
Hartford's Eastern League laurels kept their fingers crossed today, hopeful for a break that would snap a string of four straight losses.

A broken webbing on second baseman Ken Therrien's glove was directly responsible for the Laurel's 6-4 loss to Elmira last night.

With two out and a man on first and second, George Mitrus, Elmira third sacker, hit to short. The throw to second went through Therrien's glove and two runners scored. Mitrus reached third before the ball was recovered and reached home safely on a later play to score Elmira's sixth run.

In the only other game, Scranton defeated Binghamton 7-1. The Williamsport at Albany and Wilkes-Barre at Utica contests were postponed because of wet grounds.

Beaver, Pa., May 23 (AP)—The contention of six women workers that the timing of their jobs was too fast kept idle today all 4,000 employees of the Curtiss-Wright Corp. propeller division, the company stated.

The resultant bottleneck shut down the works, the company said.

Men Over 30 Not To Be Inducted

Harrisburg, May 23 (AP)—Induction of all draft registrants aged 30 or older was postponed today by Lt. Col. Clarence M. Hartmann, deputy director of Pennsylvania Selective Service.

Telegrams went out to the state's 422 local draft boards instructing them to hold up issuing calls to registrants in the age group 30 through 37 in line with a newly announced national policy.

The local boards were directed to review the cases of all such registrants to determine if they were entitled to deferment by virtue of their occupation.

Formerly registrants in the group 34 through 37 were granted deferments if they were "regularly engaged in an essential activity." Under the new policy it is up to the local boards to determine if registrants 30 through 37 are engaged in "useful" occupations that would warrant their deferment.

NEW DIVISION AT FRISCO ON VETO PROBLEM

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor)

San Francisco, May 23 (AP)—A last-minute division appeared among the big-five at the United Nations conference today over the veto power they would wield in a world organization intended to keep peace.

British diplomats are urging the other powers to renounce their claim to the right of veto, but only in so far as it applies to the investigation of international disputes. A single no vote still could block any steps toward peacefully settling a dispute.

Heretofore the top countries have insisted upon keeping intact their individual veto control over peace-keeping decisions. Some within the United States delegation are reported leaning toward the new British stand but there is no indication thus far that it would be acceptable to the Russians.

The Veto Issue
The whole veto issue is rapidly coming to a head. There is the possibility that on a showdown small nations might outvote the big five in conference committees and force changes which one or more of the major nations would find unacceptable.

Most speculation in this connection centers on Russia. Also, some American authorities doubt that the United States Senate would ratify a world league charter which did not reserve to this country authority to prevent other nations from taking a hand in western hemisphere affairs without American consent.

An argument along this line also is being made to the Latin American states as a practical reason why they should support the veto. In the hands of the United States, the argument goes, the veto right could be used to protect the working of the Pan-American system in the maintenance of peace in this hemisphere.

Yalta Question Mark
The British move is being made in connection with big power efforts to answer a list of questions submitted by smaller nations on how the veto would work. The formula agreed on by the big-three at Yalta this spring would allow a majority of any seven nations on the 11-nation security council to decide a "procedural" question.

No one has ever defined exactly what "procedural" means. If the big powers decided that the initial decision was "procedural" it would have the effect of eliminating the veto from such decisions. It would mean that even though two or three of the big nations were against going into a situation, the council still might vote to do so.

Answers to the questions will not be agreed upon finally before Secretary of State Stettinius returns from his conference on urgent diplomatic problems with President Truman in Washington. He left

Col. Gabreski To Visit His Fiancee

Private Du Chien, Wis., May 23 (AP)—Pretty Kay Cochran has some new clothes today, purchased after she received a phone call from her fiancé, Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, American flying ace, with word that he is planning to fly here from Washington as soon as military duties permit.

Miss Cochran purchased a trousseau last summer. Friends were noncommittal on whether the couple plan to marry on Gabreski's next visit.

After the visit here, it was said at Miss Cochran's home, Gabreski plans to go to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gabreski, at Oil City, Pa.

The flier was liberated recently from a German prison where he was held after being shot down last summer. Gabreski's official record is 28 enemy planes destroyed in the air and on the ground.

ELECTION WILL MEASURE 'LEFT' SWING IN BRITAIN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign News Analyst)

England's forthcoming general election—the first in ten years—will be a momentous affair in several ways but especially because it involves the question of how far John Bull has been affected by the European swing to the "left."

A lot can happen in a decade, and there has been a great change in the political complexion of many continental countries. This has been particularly marked in recent months as the Germans have been evicted from occupied states.

As might be expected, Russia's great success at arms has provided the Communist cells in the various nations' propaganda to promote their crusades. The result is that Communism is playing a considerable part in the "leftist" trend which has been registered clear across Europe to the English channel.

War-Time Complications
How much of the leftist influence has hopped across the twenty miles of water into traditionally conservative Britain? Well, we shall get an idea of the tendency from this election, although the answer may not be clear cut since the situation is complicated by war-time considerations.

The main battle will be between the Conservative party under leadership of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, and the Socialist (or Labor) party. The latter has come out flat-footed for the establishment of "a Socialist commonwealth of Great Britain" which would call for sweeping nationalization of industry and far reaching public ownership.

There will be other political elements involved in the election, including the Communists, but the Conservatives (to whom the Socialists refer as Tories) and the Socialists are the chief contestants. The Conservatives have a large majority in the present House of Commons, but the cabinet is a coalition which was formed under Churchill for the prosecution of the war.

A Shrewd Politician
The Conservatives have a twelve-point program which includes the pledge of British support in the war against Japan and urges cooperation with America and Russia in maintaining peace. It also calls for vigorous development of the empire for the benefit of all its peoples, and stands for "the fullest opportunity for individual initiative." The Socialists claim they can win a majority in the election. That claim, however, is cloaked under the national political silence lasting since 1939—long before the war began.

Churchill obviously will have at least two very strong assets as he goes to the country. One will be his great war leadership, and the other will lie in the fact that if he is defeated now it will mean "changing horses in the middle of the stream," that is, before the war in the Pacific has been concluded. Then, too, his supporters will maintain that it will be unwise to remove him from the councils of the "Big Three" at such a critical juncture in world affairs.

Churchill may be expected to wage a tough fight. Veteran of many political battles, he is by far the most colorful figure in England's political life and has the rugged personality which to the average Briton typifies

JAPAN FLOATS BOMBS TIED TO PAPER BALLOONS

By EDWARD H. HIGGS

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Japan, gradually being blasted to bits by Superfortresses, is striking back at the United States with bombs hitched to big, free-flying paper balloons.

So far, however, sporadic attacks during the past several months have not caused any property damage and, in no sense, are the balloons considered a "military threat."

The army and navy so said late yesterday in a joint announcement. It was the first public disclosure that the unmanned balloons—wafted perhaps from submarines or the Japanese homeland—are hitting North America aimlessly. However, the attacks have been an open secret with many newspapermen and to hundreds of residents in the western part of the country.

Release Story
The balloon bombing was the first reported attempt to attack the United States since occasional submarines and submarine-based planes stole up to the west coast in 1942 to strike at oil fields and defense installations.

The wraps were taken off the John Bull. His move in forcing a quick election is shrewd, for the argument that he is needed in office for war leadership is powerful.

story because the two services thought the public should be warned about the potential danger of unexploded bombs dropped by the balloons.

Emphasizing that there is no need for alarm, the services said they felt that saving even one American life through precautionary measures would more than balance any benefit the Japanese might get from learning "imply that the balloons have reached North America."

The enemy would like to learn specific details as to the points at which the balloons landed and the effect they have had, the army and navy added, but they have no intention of letting the Japanese find out.

Can't Be Controlled
"Such information would permit him to evaluate the result of his fantastic effort and possibly correct his methods," the joint statement said. There was no official hint, beyond the description "long-range" attacks, as to their origin.

About 33 feet in diameter, the balloons are made of gray, white or greenish blue paper. They cannot be controlled.

The chances that any given place in this country might be hit, the army and navy said, "is only one in many millions."

Not the only shortage, but waste paper is America's No. 1 war material shortage. Save every scrap.

Market Is Glutted; Dairies Dump Milk

Philadelphia, May 23 (AP)—A Philadelphia dairy and one in Montgomery county report they have been forced to dump thousands of quarts of skimmed milk daily because of the present glut on the milk market.

Edward Breuniger, of the Breuniger dairies here said yesterday that his farm has had to dump more than 7,000 quarts of milk "down the drain" during the past few days. Charles L. Flouder, of Flouder's Dairies, Norristown, reported similar action.

LEND A HAND, NEIGHBOR, IN THE biggest clearing job in the world!

The "tank-clearer," one of America's mighty new weapons that has cleared the way for our fighting men from the hedgerows of Normandy to the jungles of Luzon

Let's talk turkey.

Today your country is asking you to buy War Bonds—twice as many as you did last time—in the biggest and most urgent War Loan of all ... the Seventh.

Why so much more than you bought before?

Here's why: Up to this time last year there had been two war loans. This time, the Seventh War Loan must do the job of two.

And because the cost of the war is just as great, the money you put into War Bonds in one loan now must equal what you put into two last year.

Sure, a lot of optimistic people are saying, "Look at what's happened in Europe!"

They don't stop to think that regardless of Germany's condition, we at home must keep sending our millions of men in Europe tons and tons of supplies daily.

They don't realize how much money it takes to pay for the care we must give our thousands of wounded ...

money for medicines, for hospital ships, for months of careful nursing and rehabilitation in hundreds of convalescent hospitals.

And in the Pacific—well, we've at last got into position where we can really start harvesting the seeds of victory our fighting men have planted.

We've got to lend those men a hand, right now, by loading more ships with more supplies, more guns, more tanks, more shells, more food than ever went across that broad ocean before.

That's why our country is asking that you back up our soldiers and sailors, among them millions of farm boys, who are fighting and dying far from their homes and fields ... back them up by buying twice as many bonds as you did before.

WAR BONDS PAY OFF IN THESE 7 WAYS:

- 1 The same Government security backs your War Bonds as backs the actual dollars you put into them.
- 2 You get $100 at maturity for every $75 loaned now.
- 3 You can get your money back, 60 days after issue date, any time you need it ... in the meantime you get safety and steady growth.
- 4 You have a backlog to renew farm buildings and equipment after the war.
- 5 Bonds will insure your children's schooling, or provide for your own security, travel, retirement.
- 6 Bonds go into a national nest egg that will help to assure post-war prosperity.
- 7 Bonds transform your love of home and country into action ... you join personally in the biggest, most urgent War Loan of all—the Seventh!

TRADE YOUR FOLDING MONEY FOR FIGHTING MONEY

Just Folks

THE COMMON LOT
I questioned Wealth: What do you buy

Beyond the table nicely spread
And raiment pretty to the eye

And sometimes flowers for the dead?

"That done," said Wealth, "the rest is known
In vaulted stuff and steel and stone."

I questioned Fame: Your favored few

Are subject they to hurt and pain
And tasks which humbler people do

And do they pray, sometimes, in vain?

"Oh, yes," said Fame, "They still must share
All that mankind is asked to bear."

I asked Experience: Is it true
That all success is wealth and fame?

Can men, uncheered, their labors do
And still deep satisfaction claim?"

"Yes," said Experience, "pride appears
In having bravely lived the years."

"A home, where love and laughter reign
And children are content to be,
Where shared is all of loss and gain
And friends drop in to stay for tea—
These are the joys both high and low

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Bergdoll in Gettysburg: Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, known throughout the United States as the premier draft dodger, who escaped from two army sergeants while he was on leave from prison at Fort Jay where he was doing a five year sentence, passed through Gettysburg early Saturday morning and stopped at the farm of Clarence A. Bream, near Cashtown, at 5 o'clock that morning. Bergdoll, who was driving a Stutz racing car, asked Mr. Bream how he could continue on the Lincoln Highway without passing through the towns of Hagerstown and Waynesboro.

Hear Orchestra 125 Miles Away: Jazz music by an orchestra playing in Philadelphia was plainly heard Wednesday night in Gettysburg.

It was about 10 o'clock when George Miller, assistant instructor at the college, was listening in at the college wireless receiving station. He was startled to hear a man's voice say: "The next selection will be a waltz." Several other students working in the laboratory at the time took the receiver and heard the wireless.

Married in Hagerstown: It has just become known that Lloyd Sanders and Miss Ruth Riley, of near Gettysburg, eloped to Hagerstown on Saturday where they were married by a Justice of the Peace.

New Gift Shop Open: With practically a complete new line of gifts, novelties and souvenirs the Gift Shop of Mrs. Frank Boneky, formerly occupied by the Kendeiahart billiard parlor, is now open. The room which was recently damaged by fire has been completely remodeled and is artistically decorated. The Electro-Mechanical company will occupy the room vacated by the Gift Shop.

Local Boys Now on Board: Lester Stouffer and Ralph Woodward, the two Gettysburg boys who were accepted for four months service in the Navy to take the midshipmen's cruise, are now quartered on board the battleship, "New Hampshire."

Twelve Bearers: Twelve friends of the late Harry O. Himes, who died at his home on Baltimore street Friday, acted as pallbearers at his funeral held Monday afternoon. They were Ralph Stoner, Byron Brunstetter, Joseph Williams, John Raffensperger, John Rummel, Herman Mertz, Fred Pfeffer, Charles H. Howard, John E. Crim, Clarence Stoner, Maurice Miller and Edwards Buehler.

The services were conducted by Rev. F. H. Brunstetter, former Methodist pastor here, assisted by Rev. Harry Daniels, present Methodist pastor.

Five Typhoid Cases: Five cases of typhoid fever have developed in Gettysburg. The persons who have contracted the disease are Misses Mary, Zita and Grace Ramer, Baltimore street; John Cunningham, South Washington street; and Mrs. Mary Robinson, West Middle street.

Dr. J. Bruce McCreary, district officer of the state health department, arrived here on Wednesday, attempting to determine the source of the typhoid germ.

Adelphia Club Dance: About forty couples attended the very enjoyable Commencement dance given by the Adelphia Club in Glatfelter Hall on Saturday evening.

Patronesses and patrons were Mrs. P. R. Pontius, Mrs. C. R. Shuman, Miss Bernadette Thomas, Miss Lillian Kissinger; Rev. P. R. Pontius, C. R. Shuman, Donald F. Ikeler and Philip R. Bickle.

The committee in charge of the affair was Horace F. Armor, Robert C. Hartley, H. Ross Sheely and Keith P. Burger.

County Voters Reject Road Bond Issue: Adams county voters flatly rejected the proposition to the increase indebtedness to the county for the purpose of road and bridge building at the special election held Tuesday along with the regular primary ballot.

Practically complete unofficial returns gives James C. Cole, Menallen township, the Democratic nomination for representative to the General Assembly, with a comfortable lead over each of his four opponents. Otis G. Baughman, Charles W. Bucher, D. Calvin Rudisill and G. Allen Yohe.

Dr. Elgin of East Berlin, will be the Republican candidate for the General Assembly, defeating Mr. Griest.

In the race for district delegates to the Republican national convention, William C. Tyson, Butler township, lead his opponents, John Baker, York county; S. Gray Bigham, Biglerville, and Paul G. Gilbert, York county.

Personal: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sheffer, Carlisle street, announce the birth of a daughter Friday.

Miss Elizabeth Cole who spent the past several months at the home of Honorable, William A. Martin, Lincoln avenue, has gone to Buchanan Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Blamfield, Alliance, Ohio, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, Broadway.

18-YEAR-OLDS TO FILL MOST OF DRAFT CALLS

Washington, May 23 (AP)—An army officer predicted today that by fall youths turning 18 probably will be filling 85 per cent of draft calls.

This official, anonymous at his request but qualified by his job to speak authoritatively, made the prediction after noting Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's estimate that 18-year-olds will make up only 45 per cent of the July call for 90,000 men.

That percentage, the army officer said, is "too conservative" for the succeeding months, assuming the call remains at about the same level. Asserting total of 18-year-olds will increase from about 40,500 in July to approximately 78,000 thereafter, he explained it this way:

Reduced Calls
The navy, which expects to reach peak strength in July, has been enlisting large numbers of 17-year-olds, thus sharply reducing the total of youths 18 available for the draft. This drain from potential Selective Service rolls will be largely eliminated when the navy goes on a replacement basis, the official predicted, adding that this will ease the pressure considerably on registrants through 29.

Hershey, at a news conference yesterday, made it clear that in July at least these men under 30 will make up nearly all of the remaining 55 per cent of the reduced call, which at 90,000 men will be 25 per cent lower than at present.

Consideration for Dads
He announced an indefinite deferment for all men 30 and over who stay in "useful" work. This, Hershey explained, results from the war's end in Europe and the services' need for younger men.

As has been the case with men 34 through 37, registrants 30 through 33 now need only be engaged in work that draft boards—instructed to be liberal-minded—consider important. They no longer are required to be "necessary men" as well to be eligible for occupational deferment.

Hershey especially urged "sympathetic consideration" for fathers who have reached their 30th birthday. He told local boards to give them the benefit of any doubt and to think twice about the cost to the government of dependency allotments.

Prospect for Younger Men
s. For younger men, this is the prospect.

Registrants 18 through 25—the cases of all in 4-P or classified for limited service are to be reviewed at once, with any who can now qualify for active duty to be placed in 1-A. Hershey estimated this review will make available 180,000 men.

Registrants 26 through 29—pending a new study of the needs of war production and war supporting activities many of these men will retain their occupational deferments. Hershey predicted, however, the "time is coming" when more from this group will have to be called. Only those who do not qualify as key workers are being drafted at present.

Churchmen Oppose Compulsory Training

Greensburg, Pa., May 23 (AP)—The Pittsburgh synod of the Evangelical and Reformed church was on record today "as opposing the enactment at this time of compulsory military training."

The resolution adopted last night further provided that "if at any time in the future, conscription should be adopted, we believe it should be applied to all male citizens."

The speaking program today included Dr. Charles F. Freeman, of Doylestown, Pa., and the Rev. Harold Wilke, of Lansdale, Pa.

Facts In Clothes Moth Control

Despite civilized man's long and often costly acquaintance with clothes moths, many erroneous ideas have grown up around this universal pest and measures for its control. Below are a few practical facts about the clothes moth and how to prevent it from inflicting heavy damages to woolen garments, upholstery and other susceptible house furnishings.

The small buff-colored winged moth seen flying around in darkened corners of a room does not eat fabrics. It is the parent of the feeding grub or larva and its only mission is to mate with the male moth and then deposit its eggs in woolen fabrics, usually a total of 100 to 300 soft, white eggs during its two or three weeks of life. The hard pellets of larval excrement found in infested garments where moth larvae have been feeding should not be confused with the eggs.

It is often believed that when a moth is seen flying around that it has completed its egg laying. But investigations show this idea may be erroneous. Therefore, all flying moths should be killed whenever possible.

Most sprays bought under trade names serve only to kill the moth larvae they directly coat when they are applied. They do not kill the insects by their residue left on the fabrics, neither do they destroy eggs left uncoated.

Cold Storage Safest
So far as tests indicate, there are no reliable moth-proofing solutions which render garments immune to moth attack merely by spraying them on the fabric. Again, emphasis should be placed on the advice that such solutions kill only the moths and larvae which are coated with the solution and only eggs so coated are destroyed.

Dry cleaning exterminates moth already in the fabrics and destroys all hatched eggs, but it does not impart future resistance against later infestations. The insects may infest a newly dry-cleaned garment within a few hours or even minutes after it comes from the cleaners.

Cold storage is by far the safest and most effective way to prevent moth ravages.

If susceptible fabrics are thoroughly cleaned, cleaned to the degree of removing all live moth larvae and eggs, such fabrics may be stored safely by encasing them in unbroken paper. But on this point it should be remembered that a female moth will push her tiny eggs through holes smaller than a pinhead.

Cedar Chests
All forms of moths, also the unhatched eggs, are killed and destroyed by a temperature of 125 to 130 degrees F.

Frequent brushing and sunning are effective ways to keep susceptible garments safe from moth ravages.

Cedar chests are dependable only to the extent that garments are free from moths and moth eggs when they are placed in the chest and the chests are so tightly constructed that the egg-laying moths cannot gain entrance. Cedar odors alone are not effective protection.

Naphthalene (moth balls) often sold in various combinations with paradichlorobenzene and gum camphor, will kill moths and destroy moth eggs if the fumes are confined in sufficient density among infested garments. This calls for their use in tight closets or other containers. But protection is guaranteed no longer than the crystals last and the fumes remain potent and confined.

Carbon disulphide is an effective fumigant where the fumes are confined in a nearly airtight container with infested garments.

EPISCOPALIANS FILL VACANCIES

Harrisburg, May 23 (AP)—Election of members to fill vacancies on the standing, finance, executive, and Bishop Darlington memorial fund committees came before, the 41st diocesan convention of the Episcopal church today.

Lesley McCreath, of Harrisburg, was reelected secretary and treasurer yesterday. Others named to office were Charles L. Miller, Lancaster, chancellor; and the Rev. Charles E. Berghaus, Marietta, registrar.

Rev. John Thomas Heistand, bishop of Harrisburg, told the delegates that reconstruction of churches, schools, and hospitals in devastated areas was the immediate problem of the church.

He said the work can be carried out by the reconstruction and advance work fund campaign and urged all to support this work that will assist "our less fortunate fellow Christians in the Philippines, in China, and in the islands of the Pacific."

Chapter 6

It was a little past four o'clock when Jimmy arrived to drive Kay to the reception. The picture she made in her frock of white jersey caused Jimmy to smile with appreciation.

When Kay and Jimmy entered the reception room they met the gaze of a hundred people—staring at them, and past them. Looking for Francis and his bride.

Kay felt a moment of panic as she spoke to everyone about her. What would these people think if they knew the truth? That Lucia was hard and mean and clever, and that already her father was changed?

For, to the workers, Francis Lambert was more than an employer. He was the symbol of their own security, their own success. They wanted him present at all their meetings; they wanted a speech from him on every occasion, so that they might cheer to show their approval of him, and of their own contentment.

Mary Scott, chairman of the reception committee, introduced Dr. and Mrs. Weston. As they moved away, Mary whispered, "Everyone is asking about Francis. Isn't he coming?"

"He may—be along later," Kay replied. "Oh, hello, Babs!"

"Hi, darling," responded Babs, who was looking her prettiest in green chiffon. "When will Francis and the Mrs. be here?"

"Oh, I'm not sure," Kay answered. Kay turned to find Ned by her side, his face grim with anxiety. "Francis won't be here, will he?"

Kay swallowed hard. "No, he isn't coming, Ned." She tried to make her voice sound casual, but as she met his eyes they read each other's thoughts. Francis' marriage was to be as bad as they had feared.

Kay could feel an undercurrent of gossip in the crowded room. She knew they were discussing Francis' marriage and his absence here today. It was time for most of these guests to leave, the shift would change in a short while and others would come. Not only would they be disappointed over Francis' failure to appear, but the famous Dr. Warner had not arrived either.

"Oh, Kay," a young, excited voice called, "isn't it grand?"

Kay turned to face Josephine Blake, one of Lowell's young college students. "Why, Josephine," she exclaimed, "how does it happen you're home from school? You go to Kilgore University, don't you?"

"Yes, Travis and I were excused for the week-end," Josephine explained, her gray eyes sparkling with happiness. "Travis heard Dr. Rex Warner was to be in Lowell, and he just had to meet him. Isn't it marvelous that Travis is isn'ting to be a doctor, too?"

"Yes, it is," Kay agreed, smiling at the younger girl's enthusiasm. "And you two are—still that way about each other, I would gather?"

"Oh, it will always be Travis for me, Kay," Josephine's face flushed. "Always. And I've just got to see Mr. Francis and thank him again."

YANKEES BLANK ATHLETICS IN TWILIGHT TILT

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Joe McCarthy's New York Yankees got their first peek at the league-leading Chicago White Sox today but it's bound to be a letdown after the first twilight game in the Bronx and in which the Yanks defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0.

The house that Ruth built and McPhail bought opened its doors at 5:45 p. m. last gloaming to a paid attendance of only 6,622 for the first of a series of Larry MacPhail experiments.

Those in the know claimed the MacPhail influence at last was to be felt in the haunts of the conservative New York club that always looked down its nose at night baseball and show boat innovations.

Storm clouds twice forced the umpires to halt the game. The second time just after the legal five innings had been played, Coach Al Simmons of the A's argued so strongly with Ump Art Passarella that it should have been called earlier he was run out of the park.

Borowy Hurts Finger

Only bright part in the Yank picture was the shutout spun by Hank Borowy and Jim Turner. Borowy, troubled recently by a sore arm, developed a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand in the seventh and had to yield in the midst of a four-hitter. Turner, for the seventh time this year, sparked in relief but the victory went to Fordham Hank, his fifth.

Rookie catcher Herb Crompton, called into action despite a 135 average because of Mike Garbarik's hitting slump, drove home all the Yank scores with a brace of singles. It was his biggest hitting day in the majors. Steve Gerkin, an army dischargee, was Connie Mack's loser.

After the contest, MacPhail asserted he had grown lukewarm on the subject of twilight games and would have to talk things over with McCarthy before making future bookings in Yankee stadium. However, another supper hour tilt with Detroit may be scheduled for May 31.

Out For A Year

Night ball for the Yankees, a certainty in post war days when MacPhail can engineer the equipment for his stadium with its envisioned capacity of 100,000, appears out for this year. Although the Yank front office had talked about playing some after dark tilts in the neighboring Polo grounds and the Giants had expressed interest, MacPhail said it was a remote possibility for 1945. Twenty-eight arc-light games, 14 each in Brooklyn and New York, are enough for the city in Larry's opinion.

All other clubs were unscheduled, either playing exhibitions or traveling preparatory to opening the second interseasonal series of the season.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, May 23 (AP)—When the Army's special services division recently discovered a manufacturer who had not only the material but the manpower to produce 75,000 deep sea fishing units, a hurry call went to the Bowlers Victory Legion.

It took only a couple of minutes for BVL Director Arville L. Ebersole to write a check for $65,000 and by June 15 the equipment will be ready for distribution to soldiers in the Pacific, who have been hollering for fishing tackle even louder than we civilians, who couldn't get to a good fishing spot if we had it.

Bummy (beg pardon, Al) Davis has had 14 fights in Madison Square garden and all of his four defeats there came at the hands of champions or ex-champs. New York Mirror's headline on the return of Jamaica racing, "Three R's Return—B-reeding, Riding, Rhythmic."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Tommy Fitzgerald, Louisville Courier-Journal: "Boo Ferriss, the redhot rookie, has pitched three shutouts in four games for the Boston Red Sox. Despite 41 postponements because of bad weather, it seems to be occasionally Ferriss and warmer in the American league."

SHORTS AND SHELLS
Capt. Hank Greenberg may turn up as a New York automobile distributor instead of a Detroit ball player when he gets his discharge. A new chute at the Roosevelt raceway will permit the Long Island trotting track to specialize in odd-distance races when it opens this week-end. The customers won't mind as long as there aren't too many odd payoffs.

PENALTY, STROKE AND DISTANCE
A poke in the puss by any other name hurts just as much, but George Gethell of Englewood, N. J., points out that his brother John, famous midwestern football referee who died recently, knew the difference between a poke and a shove. Gethell notes that stories about the 1936 northwestern-Minnesota game said John had penalized Ed Widseth for "slugging." Actually the penalty was 15 yards for "illegal use of hands" instead of the slugging penalty, which would have

MAJOR = MINOR CLASH FEARED

New York, May 23 (AP)—Revolt simmering in the minor leagues for many years of real or imagined major league domination may pop into the open today when the six-man committee of the National Association renews a discussion of its relationship to the two big time circuits.

Territorial protection and increases in the baseball draft price, both passed by the minors but tabled by the majors, helped bring matters to a head.

Naming of Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler by the big boys who were said to have "snubbed" a request by the little fellows for a voice in the proceedings may precipitate an actual break.

Instead of a new major-minor agreement to replace the existing pact that expires Jan. 14, 1946, it was hinted that the lower class circuits might choose to go their own way.

One committee member expressed his viewpoints when he said "the feeling with many of the National Association members is that we have scratched their backs long enough. Now we are at the end of the road. We have reached the point to ask for more consideration or we will go by ourselves."

If such a break should come, there would be no further drafting of minor league players and no guarantee an optioned player would eventually be returned to the parent club.

Nationwide Boom In Boxing Business

New York, May 23 (AP)—The nationwide boom in the boxing business continues unabated, a survey by The Associated Press showed today, although promoters generally do not expect much additional talent to become available despite Germany's Surrender.

Some promoters expressed the opinion that several top rated fighters may soon be discharged from the armed services, but until then all agreed that they would continue to put on bouts using, as in the past, whatever talent is available.

That apparently is sufficient for the paying customers. Shows all over the country have reported their biggest gross dates in years. For instance New Orleans reported receipts of $17,279, the largest in 15 years, for the Bernard Docquey-Lulu Costantino fight Monday night.

With the outdoor season just ahead the outlook is even more favorable.

Mustard is believed to be the most popular spice in America.

York is scheduled to play a doubleheader at Wilmington tonight. The first game will begin at 6:45 p. m.

Other games today: Hagerstown at Allentown and Trenton at Lancaster.

San Francisco, May 23 (AP)—Challenger Willie Hoppe's lead was cut eight points today in his championship three-cushion billiard match with Welker Cochran, National titlist.
